

Fr. Ray Scholarship Programme

Nickname: Bank

Sex: Male

Birth Date: 2001.06.09

Birth Place: Chonburi

Arrival Date: 2008.05.07

Family History and General Information

There appears to be 2 people with unstable mental conditions in Bank's home. The first one is the father, while the second one is Bank's older brother. The mother took off and left everyone with the father. Bank appears to be the only child with good mental ability but there was no one to really look after him. Bank was really in need of help when he met one of our representatives. He is generally shy and likes to be left alone. He is very quiet and does not have many friends nor does he play with anybody. His teacher commends him for being quite attentive to his study

Bank is currently in his 3rd and final year in the entry level (kindergarten). To help Bank with his academic study, an amount of 300 baht is being deposited monthly with his teacher in charge. The fund is for his daily per diem, text books and other educational tools, and school uniforms. Our social worker will pay regular visits to Bank for close observation and monitoring and to ensure that he has all the necessities for his academic study and schooling. (NS)

June 2009

Bank continues on with his education in his 1st year in primary educational level. Unfortunately, it has been identified that as he climbs the stairs of his academic life, Bank's mental capability is not quite as quick and as sharp as many of his classmates. This became apparent to the teacher in charge of his class. Bank is well cared for by his older brother whose mental capability is not as good as normal people but he loves Bank. He brings Bank to school and picks Bank up every afternoon after regular classes, showing his care and his love for Bank who is the youngest brother in the family. It has been recommended to the family that Bank should be brought into our Home to live there to ease the family's burden but the well wishing was turned down by the family, especially Bank's father and brother, who believe that Bank should be close to them and close to the family. Continued close monitoring is to be maintained to ensure his general good behaviour and achievement in his academic study, continue. (NS)

January 2010

Bank continues to be a good boy. He is complimented by his teacher at school as one of the good boys in good behaviour and conduct at all time. Bank is now trying hard to overcome his weakness in reading and writing with the help from his teacher at school. Being a good boy, his teacher at school is quite confident that he should be able to progress well in his study. Bank is enjoying good health. (NS)

September 2010

Having been advanced to his 2nd year under the primary educational level at the start of this school year in May 2010, Bank has been able to do rather well in his academic study. Subject to the outcome of his school's year-end final examination, there will be a good chance for him to advance to the 3rd year under the primary educational level. There has never been a negative report about his behavior or conduct from his teacher at school. His brother is looking after Bank as well as their father who is suffering with a mental deficiency. Bank returns home after his regular schooling in the afternoon to help his older brother care for their father and to do the daily house-chores. In his free time, he also enjoys the company of his close friends from school. He is enjoying good health. (NS)

March 2011

This is the time of the year when most students are at full alert. It is time for tests and evaluations. It is also time for the School's year-end final examination. It is a time of confusion and chaos for those who are seeking higher learning for the next school year which usually starts in the middle part of May or the early part of June. Most colleges and universities start a bit later. Those who have done well during the year will have a somewhat easier time. Immediately upon completion of the School's year-end final examination, a long summer holiday follows. This is the time when those who want to go further in their academic study will be very busy preparing for their entrance examination while, on the other hand, those who will progress to the next higher level in the normal flow of events, will have time to relax and put their text books away for a while.

Bank continues on with his academic study and his supervising teacher seems to have confidence in his ability to advance to the next higher level, Year 3 under the primary education, subjected of course to the outcome of the school's year-end final examination which is now taking place. As expected, he shall be promoted to Year 3 in general or the 3rd year under the primary education when the next school year will start in May of this year. Bank, in the meantime, appears to enjoy his good health, so much that his teacher at school seems to have some doubt how he obtained the financial help from our Home as he is extremely active. Nevertheless, there has never been any negative feedback from his teacher at school with regards to his behaviour and conduct. (NS)

September 2011

After our assisting Bank's father and brother with Bank's education for sometime, the family is now in the position to take good care of him. Bank was officially removed from our Scholarship Programme on the 20th September 2011. (WS)